

Horizon Scanning Service

Know what medicines are in the pipeline. Understand the strategic and operational challenges for the NHS. Start planning early.

The NHS SPS Horizon Scanning Service provides information and intelligence on medicines in development with predicted launches due over the next 3 years. We use our experience and expertise to help the NHS be better strategically and operationally prepared to treat patients with the latest medicine innovations.

- Tailored to your organisation's needs
- Prepared by NHS pharmacists experienced in assessing and intelligently analysing the service impact of new medicines
- Regularly updated with latest medicine pipeline developments
- Supports optimal introduction of new medicines into the NHS

Our Resources

Prescribing Outlook

Get more detail on drugs with launches planned over the next 2 financial years and on marketed drugs with new major indications. Use it to assess the potential impact on your local health economy.

Note: This can only be viewed by NHS staff.

New Medicines News

In our monthly newsletter find out about recent medicines regulatory changes and new product launches.

And more...

Once a year, we produce a list of new product launches. And every month, we produce a list of new product evaluations published by other UK organisations.

Our specialists continually scan data sources to identify new drugs and formulations in development, and licence changes, with a focus on those that will have implications for the NHS.
